DETAILED ACTION

Abstract

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities:
3. Claim 1, line 2, "the first side" has no antecedence basis.
4. Claim 1, line 3, "the second side" has no antecedence basis.
5. Claim 1, line 3, "the front" has no antecedence basis.
6. Claim 1, line 6, "the front side" has no antecedence basis.
7. Claim 1, line 15, "the protruding side" has no antecedence basis.
8. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

9. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

10. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

11. Claim 1, lines 12-14, "the resilient pieces having a first bent section constitutes an end portion for passing the housing and the resilient piece on the back plate side" is unclear and not readable as disclosed embodiment as described on lines 2-25 on page 13. On figure 1, springs are jointing to sidewalls not back plate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

12. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

13. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jones (U. S. Patent 6,364,709).

14. Regarding claim 1, Jones discloses a transceiver cage 1 to accommodate a transceiver module comprising: a housing including a top plate 4, a bottom plate, a back plate 7, a first side plate and a second side plate and having an opening in front to accommodate the transceiver module. At least one residence piece 8a protruding by a predetermined distance from the back plate side 7 toward a front side in the housing, a latch member 52 holding transceiver module accommodate in the housing against a form of the residence piece, wherein by locking and releasing of the latching member between the transceiver module and the transceiver cage, the transceiver module is attached in and detached from the transceiver cage, the transceiver piece having a first bend section constitutes an end portion for joining the housing and the resilient piece 8a on the back plate side 7, a second bend section constitutes an end portion on a protruding side and at least one further bend section provided between the first bend section and the second bend section.
